Introduction

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE—The Census of Business is required by law under 13 U.S.C., sections 131, 191, and 224. The 1963 census covered businesses in retail trade, wholesale trade, selected services, dental laboratories, and public warehousing operated in the United States, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. A separate 1963 Census of Business and Manufactures for Puerto Rico was conducted jointly with the Commonwealth Government. The figures in this report include those issued previously in report series BC63-RS. For definitions, see appendix A.

KINDS OF BUSINESS COVERED—Retail trade as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual¹ includes all establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise to personal, household, and farm users. In this volume, it also includes liquor stores operated by State and local governments. Retail trade excludes post exchanges, ship stores, and other similar establishments operated on military posts by agencies of the Federal Government. A separate presentation of the data for such establishments is given in chapter 1, table 19, of this volume. Data for administrative offices, warehouses, and other units which service and are auxiliary to retail establishments within the same organizations are excluded from most of the tables in this volume but are presented in tables 26 to 29 of chapter 9. See appendix B, Explanation of Terms, for definitions of the kind-of-business categories for which data are shown in this volume.

METHOD OF ENUMERATION—For purposes of coverage in the 1963 Census of Business, retail establishments were divided into two categories—those with some paid employment during 1963 (i.e., "employer" universe) and those with no paid employment during 1963 (i.e., the "nonemployer" universe). The method of obtaining census information for these two groups is described below.

Enumeration of "Employers."—Information for establishments with some paid employment during 1963 was obtained by means of a mail canvass. Report forms were mailed to all business firms included in the active records of the Internal Revenue Service as subject to payment of Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxes (i.e., employers of one or more persons) and which were classified in the records of the Social Security Administration (SSA) as wholly or partially engaged in retail and wholesale trade, and in manufacturing and mineral industries. Also included were those classified in major groups 70 (except 702 and 704), 72, 73, 75, 76, 78, and 79 in the service industries portion of the SIC Manual; in SIC industry 8072, dental laboratories; and in public warehousing, SIC major group 42 (except 421). In addition, report forms were mailed to all establishments which the SSA had not classified by kind of business prior to mailing of census report forms. Each establishment was mailed a report form appropriate to its SSA classification (for those cases for which SSA classification had not yet been established, a general purpose form was used), but its census classification was determined by replies to questions on the census report form.

Enumeration of "Nonemployers."—Information for this group of establishments was obtained from the 1963 Federal income tax returns of retail businesses other than those represented in the active FICA records of the Internal Revenue Service. Although made up of a large number of establishments the nonemployer segment accounts for less than 5 percent of total retail sales.

Data were compiled from only one-half of the nonemployer tax returns and were multiplied by two to establish census totals. Only those establishments were included here which reported a sales volume of $2,500 or more during 1963 or, having been in operation for less than the full year, reported sales which would have reached a total of $2,500 or more on an annual basis.

Based on a probability sample of all 1963 business income tax returns on Schedule C of Form 1040 and Form 1065, it is estimated that about 40,000 nonemployer establishments, of which about 22,000 were service establishments, were omitted from the census of business tabulations because of late filing. The effect of these omissions on the total sales was negligible, accounting for about one-third of 1 percent of the total sales. Studies of retailers indicate a probability that there is an additional minor omission amounting to less than 1 percent in the total service volume, due to business operations not being completely identified in the tax returns.

COMPARISON OF THE 1958 CENSUS WITH THE 1963 CENSUS—In all major respects, the 1958 and 1963 censuses were conducted under similar conditions and procedures. Strict comparability of the data for the two censuses is limited by the following factors:

1. In 1958, Alaska and Hawaii had not yet been admitted as States. Consequently, in the publications of the 1958 census the totals for the United States included the then 48 States and the District of Columbia. In the 1963 census publications, the United States totals include the 50 States and the District of Columbia. Tables in the 1963 publications which show United States totals for 1958 have been adjusted to include Alaska and Hawaii.

2. The physical area of a number of urban places for which data are shown in the 1963 census is not the same as it was in the 1958 census because of annexations and other boundary changes which have occurred since 1958.

3. In the 1963 census, for the first time, nonemployer establishments which did not operate the entire year have been included if, during the period they operated, their receipts were at a rate which would have reached an annual total of $2,500 or more had they operated the entire year. This change increases the count of nonemployer establishments but has little effect on the total volume of sales.

4. The number of active proprietors shown in this report is based on crediting each sole proprietorship with one active proprietor and each partnership with two active proprietors if the establishment was in operation during November 1963. In the 1958 census each business was asked to report this number.

5. In the 1963 census, information was collected from employer establishments on retail sales by merchandise lines. Such information had last been collected as part of the 1948 census. These data are published in Vol. I, Retail Trade—Summary Statistics, and in separate reports as part of the subject preprint series, BC63—RS. Data for "employer" establishments are provided for 24 broad merchandise lines and a variable number of additional lines specifically oriented to a single kind of business or a group of related businesses.

6. Information on sales by merchandise lines was used in assigning kind-of-business codes and provided a more precise basis for classification than previously was available. In some cases this could have resulted in classifications which were different than would have been assigned if the information available had been limited to what was available in the 1958 census.

7. Some changes were made in the 1963 census in the individual kind-of-business definitions which are detailed in appendix A. The kinds of business involved are:

- Lumber yards, building materials dealers
- Meat markets
- General stores
- Tire, battery, accessory dealers
- Home, auto supply stores
- Eating places
- Refreshment places
- Optical goods stores
- Nonstore retailers

8. In 1963 a new method was used for assigning establishments to places. This system used a computer coding procedure based on an address reference file for the larger cities. This provided a more precise method for determining whether establishments were inside or outside of city boundaries than the previously used system which was based on respondent report of location. The new system avoids the difficulty resulting from the tendency of suburban respondents to identify their location as being in the adjacent city although actually located beyond that city's boundaries. In those cases where this procedure has resulted in significant differences, the 1958 data included in the 1963 reports have been corrected or, if that was not feasible, appropriate notations made advising of the lack of comparability.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES—In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, any data which disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business organization are not published. However, the number of establishments in a kind of business is not considered a disclosure, so that this item may appear in instances where other items of information for the same kind of business or locality are withheld.

TYPES OF AREAS COVERED—The 1963 census reports provide retail trade data grouped by kind of business for a variety of geographic areas including the following:

1. In combination for the 50 States of the United States; also each census geographic region and division. (See appendix B for definitions.)

2. Each Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA). The SMSA's included in these volumes are those which were delineated by the Bureau of the Budget, Executive Office of the President, and listed in its report Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas, 1964.

3. Each county.

4. Each incorporated urban place (city, village, etc.) of 2,500 inhabitants or more. In addition, for the New England States, data are provided for towns having 10,000 inhabitants or more, or an urban population of 2,500 or more; and in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, for townships with 10,000 inhabitants or more.

5. Within each of 116 large SMSA's, for the central business district of each city of 100,000 inhabitants or more, and for approximately 1,000 major retail centers other than the central business district.

Most of the area detailed for retail trade is found in Volume II of the 1963 Census of Business. However, information for central business districts and major retail centers are presented in Volume III.
